LOCAL VOLUNTEERS – NATIONAL SOCIETY NETWORK

The network capacity of an involved Organization plays an important role for the affective support of a Camp. Local volunteers in an affected area might also be part of the affected people and might be among camp users. Local Volunteers might have:

- Family commitments
- Work commitment (because of the situation)
- Psychological support needs
- Etc

The network capacity also plays an important role for the equipment needed for the Camp provisions, since the local equipment might be damaged and/or not available.

LOCAL VOLUNTEERS – NATIONAL SOCIETY NETWORK

This is why there must be a strong network. HRC – VSRL have a very strong of eight (8) Branches in Crete Region. It also have the ability to mobilize volunteers and other key personnel from other regions.

The standardized training and the clear chain of Command that HRC-DSRL has, makes the Teams affective in their work regardless the Branch that come from. Training and operation standards include the acquisition and use of operational equipment.

THE HRC-DSRL HAS PROVED THE NETWORK AFFECTIVENESS IN NUMEROUS SITUATIONS IN CRETE REGION.
